"Until now I hadn't appreciated the depth of passion that existed amongst the members."

CPA Participant—Winter, 2008

"The EPS officers were very interesting and well-spoken. They conveyed a great respect for their position and the public. "

CPA Participant—Winter, 2007

"The amount of subject matter and material presented far exceeded my expectations."

CPA Participant—Fall, 2007

This course exceeded my goals, and provided me with more awareness into how the community and EPS can, are and need to work together at Community Capacity Building.

CPA Participant—Winter, 2008

"The fantastic interaction with the presenters and our peers was tremendously valuable."

CPA Participant—Fall, 2009

This course has been a fantastic educational experience and rates as a 'must attend' course worthy of further promotion.

Course Presenters

Experienced instructors include high ranking officers and sworn members with expertise in specialized areas of the service. Civilian instructors involved in community policing programs and external justice organizations will also provide special presentations.

Community focused

Each community has its own policing needs. To assist these communities each class will target and focus on a specific community and invite business leaders, community residents and other stakeholders to participate and find practical solutions to community concerns. Priority will be given to these community partners.

Meet your classmates

We try to make the class as diverse as possible and encourage participants who have an interest in police related issues or work alongside the EPS to apply. Past participants have represented many parts of the community including;

- * Community social agencies
- * Business leaders
- * Teachers
- * Municipal politicians
- * Media
- * Cultural Societies
- * Legal Community
- * Police Commission
